GHI Net Shows $17,6000 Rise Above Quarterly Estimate

By AL SKOLNIK

A favorable fiscal report for the first quarter of 1961 was submitted to the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors at its May 25 meeting. With income from members and tenants running some $2,300 better than the budget estimate, and expenditures in connection with housing operations running some $15,300 less than anticipated, GHI comptroller Roy Breashears was able to report an improvement in the corporation's net position of $17,600 over the original estimate.

A major factor in the improved situation was heating costs, which were $9,400 less than the estimated amount and $4,600 less than the amount expended in the first quarter of 1960. Despite the cold winter, about $4,000 less was expended for fuel oil in 1961 than in 1960. Breashears attributed this in part to the installation of new electronic controls regulating the heat.

The second favorable item was repairs and maintenance costs, which totaled some $7,000 less than the budgeted figure for the first quarter. Breashears warned, however, that the bad weather had delayed many operations which will not be reflected until later quarterly statements.

For example, the frame re-roofing program barely got started in the first quarter with an expenditure of $3,100. The budget adopted in December calls for an annual expenditure of $30,000 on this item. Similarly, expenditures for the exterior trim paint program totaled just $2,400 in the first quarter, while annual expenditures of nearly $35,000 are anticipated.

A small item contributing to the favorable report was water expenses, which in the first quarter ran some $800 less than the budgeted amount and some $600 less than the 1960 experience.

All other expenditure items showed deviations from the budget of less than $200, except insurance expense. This item, which had registered an increase of $1,300 over the anticipated expense, does not reflect dividends, which when paid will bring the item more closely in line with the budgeted figure.

Total operating expenses amounted to $306,500 for the first three months of 1961, and income from members and tenants amounted to $290,200, leaving a deficit (before allocation to reserves) of $16,300. This is the smallest deficit registered for a first quarter since 1956. (Because of seasonal heating costs, the budget always anticipates a deficit in the first quarter of the year.)

The deficit for 1961 would have been somewhat smaller if a $900 item for the housing for the elderly project had not been included among the operating expenses -- $500 for the architect and $400 for a land survey. The latter item is needed in any development of the land.

Non-Operating Income

Non-operating income for the first quarter of 1961 was $1,000 more than expected and $6,500 more than in 1960. The major increase was in interest on savings, which amounted to $500 in the first quarter of 1960 and $5,100 for a similar period in 1961. Breashears explained that this rise was primarily due to the scheduling of the interest payments.

The theft of hub-caps were reported by three different car owners last week. A resident of 7 Crescent reported hub-caps missing from his Hudson Hornet which had been parked in an open garage on Sunday night. One hub-cap was stolen from a car belonging to a resident on Parkway, and three hub-caps were reported to have been taken from a 1955 Chevy at 14 Hillside. Chief Williams reports,

Largest Bass Contest

A trophy will be given by the Beltsville Tavern and the Brown-Forman Distillers Corp. for the largest bass caught in Greenbelt Lake between June 1 and Labor Day. "Pop" Bell, warden, has announced. The contest will end at 6 p.m. Labor Day, and the trophy will be awarded as one of the final events of the Labor Day festivities.

Weighing-in stations will be at the Ben-Joe Pizza Shoppe in the Greenbelt Center, at the Beltsville Tavern, and at the Beltsville Sport Centers in Beltsville.

In case of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Weight and length will determine the winner.

stantial increase was sales department fees, which netted $3,200 in 1960 and $6,800 in 1961. This is attributed mainly to the increase in the transfer fee last May from $25 to $100 for members selling their mutual ownership contracts.

These gains were offset in part by a drop in income of $500 from sales of services to members and Greenbelt Development Corporation, operator of the apartments.

come are important to members, since such income is used to offset expenses incurred by the corporation and is considered in setting monthly charges.

"Citizens could help us if they would report suspicious people around parked cars."

An accident involving a private car and a city-owned trash truck was reported on Wednesday. The truck was on Southway in the area of the new construction work, and the private car was following. The private car started to pass the truck on the left side and the truck turned to the left. According to the driver of the private car, the rear lights of the truck did not signal that a turn was being made. The accident resulted in damage to the front fender of the private car.

A resident of Rogers Heights reported to police that a B-B shot went through the window of his car from the vicinity of 13 Hillside. B-B guns are illegal in Greenbelt.

A slashed tire was reported by a resident of Plateau. A little boy from 16 Ridge was bitten by a dog on May 30. Another dog-bite report was received from 46 Ridge.

A transistor radio, which was found on the steps of Center School was turned over to police and is being held at their office.

Police were called in on a domestic problem when a family, ready to move to another state, found that their fourteen year old daughter refused to go with them, stating that she did not want to leave her friends. After a talk with police, the girl agreed to go with her parents.

Correction

A printer's omission of two lines in the story on the GHI meeting in last week's issue created an erroneous account of the nominations for officers. Allen Morrison nominated Harry Zubkoff for secretary, and Ed Burgoon, president of GHI, nominated Hans Jorgensen, when no further nominations were forthcoming.

Record Crowd Turns Out To Debate City Budget

By ISODORE PARKER

A record-breaking crowd of 150 citizens attended the public hearing on the city budget last Monday night in the all-purpose room of the new Youth Center building. The citizens were almost entirely from the Lakewood and Lakeside developments and almost unanimously expressed strong opposition to the proposed budget and its proposed increase in the tax rate. The budget as originated submitted would increase the rate by 37 cents to bring the 1962 rate to $1.19.

Spokesmen for the two groups, Frank Perrazolli for Lakeside and Dick Pilski for Lakewood, urged the council to hold to its present tax rate "at all costs" and cited an increase of $2 million dollars in the tax base as adequate reason for holding the line. Most individual citizens blamed unfair assessments of GHI homes as the underlying reason for the high tax rate and asked for reassessments by the county. The disparity of lower tax rates of nearby communities as compared to Greenbelt was emphasized and one resident asked, "What do we get for two bucks in Greenbelt that you don't get for two bits in College Park?"

A demand to get a limit on expenditures and stick to it, much as is done with family budgets, was made by Abe Chasanow. His Ricipients of doctoral degrees will include the following Greenbelters: Sue-ning Chu Barry, 51 Crescent, Zoology; George E. Cantwell, 1 Greentree, Zoology; Billy H. Masters' degrees will be awarded to: Frederick P. Baluch, 4 Lakeside; Ralph A. Bram, 6W Plateau; John F. Downs, Jr., 3H Crescent; Robert K. Howell, 6R Hillside; Robert H. Jackson, 6G Hillside; Paul J. Manchak, 1B Westway; and Anita S. Popolo.

Slated to receive bachelors' degrees are: Frank G. J. Boyer, 12A Plateau; Virginia S. Brian, 3N Research; Carl R. Callis, 12A Crescent; Michael F. Canning, 4E Ridge; Thomas J. Canning, 4E Ridge; Howard S. Chasanow, 56 Lakeside; Faye M. Frisbie, 12G Parkway; Marshall S. Gerstel, 14Z Ridge; Richard F. Gramm, 46H Ridge; Clarence S. Hunter, 26A Crescent; Frances D. experience in selling houses has demonstrated, Chasanow declared, that people are discouraged from moving into Greenbelt because of the high tax rate. Development is also stymied by the rate, Chasanow added. Several residents suggested a delay in the building of the new administration building, and a general feeling of making as many services as possible "self-sustaining" was expressed. The lake area, the bus service, recreation program, trash collection and swimming pool were all subject to attack as too expensive. There were some suggestions to drop the bus service.

Only a few of those present spoke up in justification of some increase in the tax rate if necessary to cover increased services. Mrs. Elaine Skolnik and Owen Crowder, GHI members, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Geller, Woodland Hills residents, stated that the need for police services, capital improvements and improved recreational facilities made any tax cut unrealistic.

Earlier a report submitted by the Recreation Advisory Committee gave broad support to the city's recreation program and pointed out the need for better maintenance of play grounds and ball fields and the resurfacing of the tennis courts. The Committee also recommended that the Youth Center programs be "as near self-sustaining as possible" and that assistance be obtained from the County Recreation Department.

Mayor Alan Kistler assured the residents that their views will be taken seriously by the council before final action is taken. He indicated that several revisions had already been made, and all of them downward.

The large crowd forced the move from the city offices to the Youth Center, a setting partly responsible for the higher tax rate.

Off the cuff - Part of the audience could watch a ball game out the window during the hearing. Smoking was permitted in the room where it is normally forbidden. "There are not enough skates....er...ash trays," said Warren Leddick over the intercom. Music from the skating room accompanied the first part of the meeting. Kistler's opening remarks contained the warning, "I can't give you anything but love..." The meeting gave many citizens the first opportunity to see the new Youth Center. The soft drink machine was kept busy.

Vol. 25 No. 44

A Question of Values

No one in town is happy about the proposed stiff increase in the city tax rate, including the city council which must finally approve it. It is no surprise that the most anguished outcries have come from the Lakeside and Lakewood home owners, although Woodland Hills residents with equally expensive homes are inclined to accept a tax increase. We cannot blame the Lakeside-Lakewood groups for vigorously objecting to a tax rate which increases their already heavy tax burden about $30-$50 a year on the average.

On the other hand, we deplore the attitude of some of these residents, as well as others elsewhere in Greenbelt, which can be summarized as: "We don't care what you cut or where you cut, but bring down the tax rate!" It seems to us that such taxpayers ignore or are ignorant of what their tax dollars buy for them. They forget that no government -- city, county, state or federal -- can function efficiently by blindly slashing taxes or adopting an unreasoning policy of holding down the tax rate at all costs.

We suggest that all those concerned about the city's high tax rate should ask themselves the following series of questions: Can Greenbelt, isolated as it is from neighboring built-up areas, afford anything less than our present police force? Can our community afford to permit the deterioration of the large number of park and play-ground areas we have here, which give our city its unique charm and attractiveness, as well as make our city ideal for children? Can the city afford to drop the bus service and thereby strand the many citizens who have no car available during the day and who rely on the local bus to connect with the downtown bus lines or to get to the University, to say nothing of the daily maids and cleaning girls who have no other means of getting here?

Can we afford to delay in constructing a new municipal building when we now have an unusually low note interest rate, and when building costs are steadily rising each year? (City officials estimate that postponing the construction of the building would save less than two cents on the 1961 tax rate.) Can we afford to dispense with the many recreational activities which keep our youngsters occupied in healthful and character-building sports and relieve our minds of worry about what they're doing away from home?

When you add up all these things, you end up with a high city tax rate, which some people argue they cannot afford.

We see it simply as a question of values. We know what we value most. What are your values?

Impoverished?

TO THE EDITOR:

During the recent GHI election campaign, COMMUNICATION BETWEEN BOARD AND MEMBERS and MEMBERSHIP PARTICIPATION were among the foremost issues.

Saturday, June 3, at the University of Maryland these were the exact topics discussed at an excellent leadership seminar provided for co-op leaders by the Potomac Co-operative Federation. It was led by Dr. Gordon Lippett, an expert in his field.

GHI staff and board members were conspicuous by their absence. Are board funds so depleted by the purchase of a coffee urn that they couldn't afford to send anyone?

With over 100 people representing less than 200 homes at the budget hearing, Monday night, GHI (with over 1600 units, including apartments) was represented by only one - Mr. Cornelius, newest member of the Audit Committee. A few interested members valiantly tried to refute the erroneous charge that GHI does not pay its share of the taxes because it is not assessed at as high a rate as Lakeside and Lakewood homes.

A Museum Tour

BY VILMA CORMACK

Recently the members of the Womans Club Fine Arts Department brightened an otherwise dreary, rainy day by visiting the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

We were met at the door by Mrs. Helen Steffan, a Greenbelt resident and one of our own club members. She conducted us on a delightful tour of the Gallery, pointing out interesting highlights of the physical characteristics of the building itself: the marble columned rotunda, the west wing, the beautiful east wing where the Sunday evening concerts are held, the ingenious lighting system via sky lights alone to produce the finest effects on the paintings, and many other features un-

As we walked from room to room, we were informed about the methods and types of paint used in the various eras, and the individual characteristics of the different masters' works. When we stopped in front of Salvador Dali's Last Supper mural, we learned how much painstaking planning and careful diagramming the artist did to create a perfectly balanced composition before he finally started the actual painting.

After our tour, we lunched in the cafeteria downstairs, browsed around some more in the publications room, and then turned our cars homeward--refreshed in body as well as soul, but, above all, in the good fellowship we had together.

Any group of ladies interested in following our footsteps may contact Mrs. Helen Steffan either at the Gallery or at her home on 37 Ridge Road for arrangements. Groups of 10 or more will be guided on a delightful and educational tour lasting 1 1/2 - 2 hours, starting at 10 a.m. There is no charge, as the leaders of these tours volunteer their time as part of their activities with the A.A.Y.W. Club.

Dalton Sets Maryland

Record with 4'30" Mile

Pete Dalton, senior, gave High Point its first state championship in an event at the State Class "AA" Track Meet held at the University of Maryland on Saturday when he won the mile in 4 minutes 30 seconds. This time is not only a new High Point School record but also a new record in the mile run for the State of Maryland. Pete broke the old record by 4 and one tenth seconds. This made Pete's ninth straight win of the season. Pete returned later to the cinder path to win second in the 880 yard run and to set a new High Point record of 2:00.5 and to tie the old Maryland State record.

Kaufman, 2-D Plateau, and Emmert, 14-V-3 Ridge, running at the mile and 880 yard relay teams respectively, helped their teams to sixth place position. The 880 relay set a new High Point record with 1:35.4.

Siren Notes

BY RITA FISHER

Five brush fires and one car fire were the causes for the sounding of the triple siren during the last week in May. A brush fire in Greenbelt had been extinguished before arrival. Two Beltsville brush fires were minor enough for our men to be 10-221d while enroute. A Greenbelt brush fire was put out with the use of Indian tanks and rakes.

There were five calls for the ambulance. Two were routine trips, one to Mt. Alto and one to Leland and return. One OB was carried to Providence on May 25. Two children made ambulance trips. On the 25th, a little girl fell from a sliding board and on the 27th, a little boy had an object wedged in a nostril.

A crew from Greenbelt was on hand to participate in the moving of patients from the old Sibley Hospital to the new Sibley on Memorial Day. In all, 35 ambulances participated and 71 patients were moved.

The Ladies Auxiliary served a catered dinner to 225 persons attending a banquet for the Prince Georges County Firemen's League at the firehouse on Saturday, May 27. The Greenbelt team consisted of John Snoddy, Captain, Jim Bordas, Paul Rousseau, George Ronchi, and Paul Williams. Winning trophies were George Ronchi for Hi-spares and Paul Williams for Hi-game. The boys came in seventh in a 12 team league.

In the magazine section of the May 28th Sunday Star, there was a story entitled, "Better training for Rescue Squads." In the photos demonstrating the training, we spotted two Greenbelters. Edgar (Jack) Swisher was pictured using a stethoscope and taking a test of a person's blood pressure. In another photo, Mary Frances Wiser played the part of a victim with a cut hand.

The department is now in the process of installing safety seat belts in their fire and rescue equipment. They are also encouraging members to install these belts in their own cars and to date, 15 members have already done so. All Greenbelters are urged to follow suit.

JUNE 6

There was a reported auto fire on the B-W Parkway about 1 mile north of Riverdale on June 2.

Last week tryouts were held for the '61-62' cheerleaders. Many girls tried out and the

When our equipment arrived at the scene, there was no auto to be found indicating that whatever was wrong was of minor consequence. The men were 10-22'd on a call to Beltsville on the 3rd. There was a call from the Laundromat on the 3rd also. A possible short of overheated wiring in one of the water extractors started a fire in the extractor. The machine was disconnected and the fire did not reach any of the other machines in the establishment. Damage was estimated at $150.
